SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS

Editorial Information

Currently the editorial board list is not present on the website. It is of high importance to create such a list should IJANMC wish to get accepted by Scopus or Clarivate Analytics for inclusion in the near future.

The editorial board should list around 15-20 researchers. Abstracting and indexing services expect to see that the list is international diverse, as it proves them the quality of a journal as well as its global standing. We advise to invite editors, especially well-known scientists, from various countries (especially from developed countries) to become a part of the editorial board.

Authors

Similar rule applies to authors publishing papers in your journal. The authorship should be as diverse as possible, with majority of authors coming from developed countries. Currently nearly all authors come from China – as a result the title “International Journal” is not reflected in the authorship. Please aim to have at least 50% of authors from countries other than China in your next volume.
